

Important Information Related to Covid-19 and the Safe Organization and Execution of SelectBIO Conferences

SelectBIO is committed to organizing and physically executing its conferences in a safe and manner and to ensure the safety of all speakers, delegates, sponsors, exhibitors and staff members.

Please read carefully this important information regarding the steps SelectBIO is taking at all its conferences:

SelectBIO is 100% committed to ensuring everyone's safety during SelectBIO Conferences and are following the current government guidelines to ensure everyone's safely. Here are the specific steps SelectBIO is taking in this matter:

- SelectBIO is structuring the conference meeting rooms where sessions are held to enable 6-foot separation between individual seating so as to enable the physical distancing
- In the Exhibit Hall, the individual exhibitors are separated by at least 6-feet or more so as to enable the physical distancing
- Prior to the start of each conference day, SelectBIO together with the venue staff members thoroughly clean the tables, chairs, computers/computer equipment, microphones, and all conference-related equipment using germicidal cleaner
- The conference rooms and exhibit hall are stocked with supplies of face masks, gloves and hand sanitizer ("PPE") and attendees are urged to utilize these PPEs to ensure their and the safety of their colleagues and attendees at the conference
- SelectBIO strongly urges attendees to wear face masks throughout the conference as much as is possible – this is to protect you and also your colleagues and other conference attendees
- The food & beverage program ("F&B Service") is a key component of SelectBIO conferences and we aim to conduct the F&B Service in a safe manner during the conference – this includes physical distancing and queues with spacing when approaching F&B Service stations in the exhibit hall as well as pre-packaged food as opposed to a traditional buffet service during the F&B Service component of SelectBIO Conferences

SelectBIO is strongly in favor of physical conferences as they permit scientific exchange, networking, collaboration and partnering opportunities not possible with virtual/electronic connections. However, SelectBIO is committed to safely executing its conferences in compliance with the appropriate guidelines as issued by the government bodies that have jurisdiction over the venue of the conference.
